DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, and 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yagi et al., US Pat. 5,071,611.

Yagi teaches a molded resin casing 1 [also the substrate; col. 3, line 20, figs. 1-8] housing a slidable slider in contact with a resistive track 3-3. Both the resistive track 3-3 and the conductive track 3-1 are formed on a synthetic resin film 3[col. 3, line 60 to col. 4, line 3]. The synthetic resin film and the substrate are resin molded to form an integral piece [col. 3, lines 59-61]. Regarding claim 4, attachment portion [as best seen in fig. 5, where the resin film 3 is attached to the substrate 1] firmly secures the resin film to the base substrate.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yagi.

5. Yagi teaches the claimed invention except for a specifying said conductor pattern is formed by a physical vapor deposition or a chemical vapor deposition. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have employed any well known layering technique to layer out conductive patterns to meet design specification. Further, selecting and using any known deposition method to meet design specification would be within the level of ordinary skill in the art.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2-3 and 6-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Claim 2 recites "a collector plate...flexible circuit board." And Claim 6 recites "terminal plates mounted ...flexible circuit board." Claimed structural limitations are neither disclosed nor suggested by the prior art of record. Claim 3 depends on claim 2 and claims 7-10 depend on claim 6.
